FBI Madness Storm
One Act Play

Persons

FBI Officers: AGENT 1, AGENT 2. Chief AGENT.

The father: Abdul Rauf- in his 40s.

The Mother: Maryam 30 Yrs old

The Daughter: Samah – 16 Yrs old

The two kids: Samir 12 and Hanny 10 Yrs old.

The case background:

The play is a translation from “Asifat al-FBI” The tempest of the FBI Arabic version. After the case was revealed, and the father were taken to jail, Abdul-Rauf was in serious situation were he faces criminal Justice court for an alleged murder case of his daughter. The FBI was involved in a surveillance covered the nation for terrorism, directing FBI efforts toward Abdul-Rauf, the store owner in black community at Chicago. For twenty years Abdul-Rauf was a decent citizen, semi religious man believed in his heritage, norms and tradition.

He often sees his three kids: Samiha 16, Samir 12 and Hanny 10, because he leaves before the wake up, and comes late after they sleep. His excuse that he owns a grocery shop, and he has to take care of business to support his family needs.

The play, however describes the tragedy of a family, caused by the daughter, who acted as American young lady, lived in free environment and learned American ways of life. few meetings with all the family members, especially the period where Samah entered her 16 birthday.

Samiha was in love with Demetry Sharkuf, a senior high school student. A football player. And a role model for all girls in the school. Samiha admired Demetry, and they got acquainted in a Hallaween Party at the school.

However, what the daughter experienced was far from imagination of her parents. She was fully Americanized, in terms of relations with the other sexes. She was under psychological factors push her away from home, which always forces her to act saying or doing according to certain rules and regulation. Traditionally rejected from young people who like to get the best in life.

Abdul's family was poor in a small village in Lebanon. As a refugee from Palestine his father was watches repairers in Haifa-Arab City near Tel-Aviv. In 1948 he was forced for family security to flea north where some of his relatives live in Lebanon.

As an Arab from the Middle East, Rauf was put in profiling aliens files and FBI surveillance under the Patriotism Act and Home Land security rules. The investigation show that Abdul Rauf was no terrorist, but in criminology science he can be categorized under honor killing crimes. Which is common committed by families have old cultural traditions like the Middle East.

The One act play is five chapters. The first describes the FBI headquarter meeting. The second chapter shows the family at home, the third shows the father concern about his 16 year daughter, the forth chapter describes the tragedy, the fifth concludes the play, where the FBI reported the tragedy.

CHAPTER ONE

[An office at the FBI Headquarter Building]

Chief AGENT : The team leader officer; (entered the office and took his place around the oval table, with a paper in his hand. (Four other agents were taking place.

AGENT 1 and AGENT 2: What's up!?

Chief AGENT : A new assignment. (He distributed the to the papers agents.)

Agent 1: (unfolding the paper) His eyes read loudly:) AbdulRauf Muhammad, 1661 Greenfield Ave, this is good "continuing reading" So we have to finish the work before end of Friday, 22 of February 2005.

Chief AGENT: Right.

AGENT 1: Is this the only assignment we have for this group today?

Chief AGENT: So far, yes. But there is another list. (He puts his hand in his coat inner pocket. And provide it for the group)

AGENT 2: (Looked at the paper), Oh God! All these name too.

Chief AGENT: Primarily the Abdul Case is the primary one, When you finish this case, you may proceed to other cases. But I want to remind you of the new instructions. You are serving the national security and Patriotism Act.

AGENT 1: You know, I don't complain, but don't you think that we crossed the line concerning justice rules by violating citizen's human rights and civil privacy laws

Chief AGENT: Orders are clear, these instructions came from above. And the National situation confirm the need for surveillance may be for a short period of time. We are in a war situation, and some enemies are living among us.

AGENT 1. But what about calling us for testimony by the congress?

Chief AGENT: The testimony will call your superiors not you. You only executives to do the job.

AGENT 2: This is a good point Agent. These assignments Came directly from the Main Administration Office, from the National Security Advisor Office. Our task force is getting orders from not making them.

AGENT 1: I understand, but why Abdul Rauf?

AGENT 2: {went to the right side of the office and pulled a file} OK, read all the details here!.

AGENT 1: [Takes the file, opens it flipping pages] Oh this guy is a shop owner, a Middle East grocery shop, originally Palestinian, has certain activities with charity services with the Mosque, and sent amounts of money to Lebanon.

Chief AGENT: goes to the corner of the office, prepare for himself a cup of coffee offering to AGENT 2, you want one?!

AGENT 1. [AGENT 1. Was still revising the file.] No. Thanks. I will do it myself later.

AGENT 2: Yes please, black, no sugar.

Chief AGENT: What do you think so far?

AGENT 1: It seems to , the guy has nothing to do with National Security. He's legal alien, an American citizen since 1985, paying taxes on time, for the last fifteen years.

AGENT 2: Well, orders are orders.

AGENT 1: There is something wrong with this guy. What is it?

AGENT 2: Yes all what you say is true, but I think there is something wrong. We have to discover it.

AGENT 1: here is more! He got married seventeen years ago, has a daughter 16 years old, two sons eight and ten, with no criminal records, AGENT 2: Read more about his origin.

AGENT 1: [Flip the paper of the file] OK, he came from Lebanon, I see now, he should be suspected of Hizbullah , and may be a member.

AGENT 2: Well! If not a member, he's a supporter. See the copies of the checks donated to the Mosque, he donated a large amount last month.

AGENT 1: Oh. I see, the largest check amount does not exceed two hundred Dollars.

AGENT 2: This guy might be dangerous, no one knows, and no one expect how these Middle Easterners act. Read more about him. Page 6, he attends almost all prayers, and never missed Fridays prayer.

AGENT 1: So what? Many Christians attend churches and synagogues every Saturday and Sunday.

AGENT 2: Well! They are not suspected as those who attend the prayers in the Mosque. You know!

AGENT 1: But this is a discrimination, you and I know it. Not everyone should be under surveillance. And not every Middle Eastern have to be suspected. There are many decent American Arab citizens.

AGENT 2: Well. Orders are orders! Agent! We are not judges we are only FBI Agents.

AGENT 1: So, the assignment is clear. We have to know more Abdul, to be sure that no danger may comes from him. He's a terrorist, until proved not. Right!

AGENT 2: Right! We will install ears dropping devices ASAP,

AGENT: Car, shop, and home.

AGENT 2: Right. Let's end this meeting.

Chief AGENT: brings the coffee to AGENT 2, and announced the meeting adjourn. Go for it Guys.

The first Chapter ended: The Curtains Down

CHAPTER TWO: ABDUL HOME

[Time is a little after three P.M. at Abdul home, his wife is preparing food for the family, as a Middle Eastern woman responsible of cooking everyday for the kids and family, the lady was singing a popular song for Fairuz, “Zoruni Kull sanah Marrah, Haram tinsuni bilmarrah. She tastes the food, and began to bring the spoons, dishes, and forks to the dining table. She is looking outside through the kitchen, and the two kids entered the room.]

HANNY.(10 years old) Hi Mom,

SAMIR (12 years old): Slamun Alaykum . Mama.

MOTHER: alaykum salam Samir, you’re a good boy, talk in Arabic.

HANNY : What about me Mom? I am good too.

MOTHER: yes Enta Kuwayyes, but not straight, what Hi Mom means, you should say like we taught you before.

HANNY: [Arguing] Why Mom? OK salam Aleekum.

MOTHER: wa Alaykum al-Salam, Now you’re a good boy. Wash your hands before dinner. Your sister soon will be here.

HANNY: OK Mom, no need to say that three times a day. [Both boys disappeared to the left side where their rooms are.The mother continues cooking]

[The father Abdul gets home]

Father: Oh! The food smell good, what do we have today? Salamu Alaykum.

MOTHER: Alaykum al-Salam. You are coming early!

FATHER: Yes. I left my cousin . [he sat on the table] guess what?

MOTHER: a new marriage ceremony!

FATHER: yes, you guess right. We are invited for marriage party on Saturday night.

MOTHER: which family this time?

Father: Abu Ibrahim, his son is going to marry.

MOTHER: I heard, Ibrahim and his mother were in Lebanon, last week.

FATHER: yes you are right. The boy listened to his parents. He's a good boy.

MOTHER: yes, I knew Ibrahim when he was five years old, yes he's a good boy.

FATHER: you know I wished him to our daughter, but she still young. Where's samah? Did she come?

MOTHER: she will be home.....soon!

FATHER: I am taking ablution. [goes to the bathroom, have ablution for prayer.]

MOTHER: [pouring the food in a large dish, Maqloobah and calling the Kids:] Samir, Hanny, come and eat.

Hanny appears: Mom.... just say dinner is ready.

MOTHER r: I will never be American like you!

Hanny: Mom.. its so easy, just say: Dinner is Ready.

MOTHER: OK, Abu long tong. Where's Samir?

Samir: I am here! Moma! [takes his seat on the table, the father came out of the bathroom, both kids jumped to their Dad, hugging him then sat on their seats]

Hanny: Let's eat Mom. I am hungry.

MOTHER: Samah is not here yet.

FATHER: you are right! One more minute, your sister will be here! [The father stood up, went to the window] Samah will be here in a minute.

Samah: [Samah entered the room] hi Mom! High Dad. [She hugs her mother].

FATHER: There is no Salamu Alaykum!

Samah: Dad....what's the difference? Hi or Salam, for me it looks the same.

MOTHER: No! Samah, it's not the same, it's not our language. It's different.

Samah : Why different Mom? ...[She approached the table and kissed her Dad on the cheek.]

Samah, whom you were talking to After the bus stopped?

Samah: Nothing Dad. No one! I was talking to no body.

FATHER: OK.... Yalla sammu,[say the name of God-Bismillah] We were waiting for you! [They all sat around the table and began eating.]

CHAPTER THREE: In the guest room

[a large room saloon, the father watching “Iqra’ religious Channel, and the Mother enters the room with coffee tray. She provides on cup to her husband]

MOTHER: Abu Samir! Let me tell you that with your doubts about Samah, you will force her to leave.

FATHER: What do you mean? I am always telling her to be a good girl. We did not come to America to loose her.

MOTHER: Yes you are right, but you are tough sometimes on her.

FATHER: You know..... this country is not ours, and its culture is not our culture. Our kids are our responsibility. Do you want your daughter to skew out of home and have affairs before marriage?

MOTHER: But our daughter is still young.

FATHER: Damn America, I should not come to America in the first place.

MOTHER: Why do you say that, America is good , and everything is available life-wise. And our kids are healthy and at schools free, the bus comes every morning to take them to school and bring them back home safe. This cannot be possible in our village.

FATHER: But our daughter is not young. She's 16 years old. And in the high school. I married you when you were 13. Don't you remember?

MOTHER: I do! But Samah looks innocent. And you have to understand that America changes young people. Especially the kids. I am sure, Samah is innocent girl, and will not ashamed us.

FATHER: Innocent. You don't know anything. See daughter of Abu Salim, she married a Jew. Daughter of Abu Salman Married a Christian.

MOTHER: I heard, but our daughter is different. I I heard in both case, they were in love. I know that you refuse the idea of enter-marriage but these kids cannot be controlled in the new country.

FATHER: Love.... With a Jew.... And Christian? You are crazy, woman!

MOTHER: but our daughter is so gentle and keeps our manners. And she listens to me.

FATHER: I wish I send her home to live with her grandmother, before she bring shame to the family.

MOTHER: If Samah goes home, I will go with her.

FATHER: If any thing happened, you will be responsible. I am warning you. If there is something wrong, you have to tell me. Or..

[Samah entered the room, Dad and Mom stop talking]

Samah: What, you stopped talking as if the devil arrived.

FATHER: Why are you consider yourself the devil. Daughter!?

Samah: But as if.... Because you stopped talking when I entered the room, suddenly.

MOTHER: Your Dad is worried about you!
Daughter!

Samah: Worried... I am a responsible girl. Mom!

FATHER: If you are responsible girl, why don't you answer my question.

Samah: Which one? You asked me many questions every time. And I answered you!

FATHER: I asked you about the person you were talking to after the bus left.

Samah: Oh! That! You know...Dad.... Do you think he's my boy-friend?

FATHER: What do you meanBoy-friend?

Samah: Dad.... [She looked at her Mom]
Mom....what's going on?

MOTHER: You know your Dad has given a word to his brother at Lebanon.

Samah: Mom.... I told you! What are you talking about? I told you before.

MOTHER: You will marry Hisham, you cousin in Lebanon.

Samah: Mom..... This is America! People don't marry their cousins..... they fall in love, decide for themselves, engaged and then married.

FATHER: Samah... the American way in marriage is not for us. And we follow our tradition and culture.

Samah: [Looked at her Mom, for support, but Mom did not give any sign of support] Dad.... Please listen to me!

FATHER: I will not listen , you have to listen to me. I am your Dad, and I know what's good for you!

Samah: [Looks angry] Dad You remind me of Arab culture and Indian films.

FATHER: Samah.... I am not joking..... it's a serious matter. A matter of honor. You will never understand if you become fully Americanized in matters of marriage. I told my brother, and it's final.

Samah: Dad.... But we are in America, and I am beautiful..... and to tell you Dad.... I am really in love with my boy-friend.

FATHER: What are you saying?.... You don't listen to what I said.....(he slapped her on the face)

MOTHER: Please Abdul..... No.... [calling her daughter to leave the room] Samah... leave the room. [Samah leaves the room crying]

FATHER: I have no Daughters, say no to their Dads.

MOTHER: Calm down, Abdul..... please.... Let's discuss the matter in modern ways.

FATHER: Woman... what modern ways you are talking about? She said she has a boy-friend and in love with him.

MOTHER: Don't believe all what you heard. May be she's teasing you!

FATHER: This matter is serious, Maryam.

MOTHER: we have to wait to know how this matter goes. I will talk to her. Take your coffee..... and everything will be alright.

CHAPTER FOUR: The News

[On the kitchen table, Mom as usual preparing dinner about four P.M. The two kids around the table and Dad joining them]

FATHER: where's Samah, she's late today. She should be here fifteen minutes ago.

[Knocking on the door- One of the kids opens the door]

Samah [Samah gets in, with a big smile] Guess what? I have news to announce.

FATHER: sit down on the table.... Damn it. You were late fifteen minutes.

Samah: Dad.... Mom..... I am leaving [She got inside, after one minute she got her bag and said:] Dad... Mom.... We decided.... I mean.... My boyfriend and I decided to live together.

FATHER: send the bag to your room, daughter of a dog. Now.

MOTHER: Talking to Samah] Are you crazy?.... [tells the two kids to go out.....] what are you saying? You lost your mind, for sure! Where are we in all this? You are destroying your Dad and Me. Are you joking? Samah!

Samah: No Mom..... I am not joking , my boyfriend is waiting outside.

[Dad hurried to the kitchen, took a knife, and attacked Samah, he stabbed her many times.

MOTHER: Abdul..... Oh God.... You killed her.

Samah: Oh Dad.... You killed me..... You killed me Dad.

[Dad and Mom stood in the center like stones, while Samah was falling down on the floor.

[Curtains Down.]

CHAPTER FIVE: In the FBI Van

[The Two FBI AGENTS speaking to each other]

AGENT 1: The Guy is a terrorist, alright. Not against America, but against himself.

AGENT 2: We thought he was, but I think he's normal criminal, let's send a squad to capture the terrorist and recommend sending him to Guantanamo Bay.
